

The Bigger Picture

AIM: To create a giant piece of sand art that represents the team's strengths and character, and/or the wider organisation. Whilst concentrating on the details as they create their artwork, the team's finished product will reflect a bigger picture both in terms of teamwork and their organisation.

FORMAT: The day starts with a facilitated discussion about the nature of teams and what kind of team the group is. After a session encouraging creativity and different approaches to art, the team is asked to begin designing a piece of art that can be scaled up to a finished product of around 100m long. The team is then let loose to create their artwork on the beach using a selection of tools and lots of sand. Depending on the location the team can walk up the local cliff top to get an aerial view of their finished work; alternatively we use our 'eye on the sky' camera to take a photo for review and discussion - these photos create a great memory of the learning from the day.

This activity is a great way for teams to focus on development - where they want to be and how they will get there - in an unusual, relaxed and fun environment.

TIMINGS: Normally a whole day although can also be run as a half day.

LOCATION: Selected sandy sites around the world.

DRESS: Comfortable, casual outdoor clothing suitable for the time of year.

COSTINGS: From £3250 + VAT for up to 20 participants including facilitation.

Prices exclude VAT & travel

Programme costs include location sourcing; bespoke event planning/organisation; professional, trained activity staff; specialist activity equipment; on site programme management; emergency first aid support; £5million public liability insurance.